Keep the memory of your loved one close to you by having their ashes encased in a beautiful hand blown glass remembrance sphere or touch stone.

Remembrance Glass is created by Peter Viesnik, one of New Zealand's original and best known hot glass artists. Peter has forty years of experience of glass blowing, and will make your unique remembrance sphere or touch stone in his Auckland studio. He will be personally responsible for the handling of your loved one's ashes.

Your remembrance sphere or touch stone comes in a presentation box and a certificate of authenticity can be provided. There are eight colour choices as shown below and three size options for the spheres. These may be posted overseas.

Spheres

These unique memorial glass art spheres have the colour of your choice at the centre, with the ashes appearing as subtle grey white lines, enhanced by the addition of lustrous dichroic glass in between, which together spiral upwards.

The completed sphere is ground and polished at its base and the person's name can be engraved with the dates of birth and passing and any brief personal message at no extra cost.

Touch Stones

Are small and tactile, which can be carried with you, the ashes are intermingled with coloured glass chips in the same colours as the spheres, there is also a black chips option.
